

ARCHBISHOP HAYES WINS LAITY PLEDGE

Enlists Enthusiastic Support of His Plan to Develop Catholic Charities.

HONOR GUEST AT DINNER

Prelate Tells of Diocesan Survey and of the Needs That Must Be Met.

Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes was the guest last evening at a testimonial dinner in the Hotel Commodore given by a group of prominent laymen of the Catholic Church for the purpose of enlisting support of the laity in the Archbishop's plan for the development of the Catholic charities of the archdiocese.

The hosts of the evening were Nicholas P. Brady, John J. Agar, Thomas P. Farrell, Joseph P. Grace, Henry Holde, Adrian Lavin, Clarence H. Mackay, Peter J. Maloney, Morgan J. O'Brien, Johnston Redmond and John D. Ryan. There were about 200 men and women present, invitations being restricted to the chairman of the parish branches of the Archbishop's committee of the laity, chairman of the sixteen geographical districts, and the members of the executive committee. Every parish in the New York archdiocese was represented.

Francis P. Garvan, who presided as toastmaster, introduced Archbishop Hayes as the first speaker. His Grace outlined the work of the diocesan survey, preceding the campaign, which covered a period of more than six months, enlisting the services of forty-two lay workers and nine priests, the report upon which survey, showing the gravity of the need, has been presented to the Archbishop.

In the Catholic Church, his Grace said, God must always come first, but after God comes the care of the child. "For that reason," he said, "our schools have always gone up beside our churches. The word 'charity' is dear to us. It is of God, because God is love. We shall keep that name, for all our work outside of our church worship must be known as Catholic charity. And in all the development of that charity we must strike and preserve the dominant note of spirituality; it must not be secularized. We want to be efficient, and we have not been so much inefficient as inefficient. But efficiency is not enough. We must perpetuate our spiritual ideals, and thus in serving our people we shall best serve America, not alone with our bodies but with our minds and our souls."

The Archbishop said he felt that he ought to get at least $500,000, "though we really need in this archdiocese for this work," he added, "as $5,000,000 a year. When I was appealing recently to the clergy one of my old pastors said to me, 'This looks like the ideal scheme of a young Archbishop.' To that I replied, 'Well, while I am still young and wild I am going to go at it.' This utterance of his Grace, who smiled and touched his gray hair as he spoke, was greeted with laughter and loud applause. Addresses were made by George J. Gillespie, chairman of the committee of laymen; George Duval, Harvey J. Hill and others, pledging the united and enthusiastic support of the laity to the movement, and on Mr. Duval's motion a resolution to that effect was adopted by a rising vote.

TO ATTACK DIVORCE OF MARY PICKFORD

Nevada Attorney-General Alleges Conspiracy.

RENO, Nev., April 7.—A suit to set aside the decree of divorce granted to Mary Pickford, now Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, will be brought next week by the Attorney-General of Nevada, according to a statement made to-day by Robert Richards, Deputy Attorney-General.

Collusion, conspiracy and insufficiency of the residence of the other party, which failed to give jurisdiction to the court, will be the allegations in the action.

"As a result of the examination I have made of the files and records in the Pickford case," said Mr. Richards, "I am satisfied that the decree is not valid."

No experienced automobile thief would steal so distinctive a car as the new National SEXTET. The individuality of body design would make identification absolutely simple. But to foil the "take-it-and-ditch-it" joy rider, there's an unpickable theft lock on the transmission. This lock is one of the many items of equipment on the National SEXTET that have established a new standard of appointment for fine motor cars.

ANDERSON TRIAL IS DEFERRED A WEEK

Belief Report Will Hold That Inquiry Is Inadvisable.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. ALBANY, April 7.—The Assembly Judiciary Committee to-day put off for a week action on the contempt charge against William H. Anderson and the investigation of the Anti-Saloon League. If the Republican leaders have their way nothing further will be done than the submission of a report stating that both the investigation and the calling of Anderson before the Assembly are inadvisable.

The committee may then brand both Anderson and the league as a menace to the cause of temperance. It is believed this will satisfy the injured feelings of Assemblymen who have been attacked by Anderson, and at the same time not give the Anti-Saloon League superintendent the opportunity of placing himself before the public as a martyr.

YOUTHS ON A SPREE WERE DRY SLEUTHS

Bartenders Are Kind Hearted and Get Pinched.

Two boyish young men who to all appearance were out for as much of a spree as they could acquire in a town where booze is hard to get told the story of their third to bartenders in cafes on Forty-third and Forty-fourth street corners of Sixth avenue last night and seemed to be pleased with the drinks the soft hearted ones handed out. The youths proved to be revenue agents, and when they decided to arrest the bartenders they called in two other and hunkler colleagues to handle this part of the job.

In a cafe owned by Peter J. Groll, at Sixth avenue and Forty-third street, Alvin Weiss of 211 East Fifteenth street was arrested, and at the corner above Richard Flynn of 153 East Ninety-seventh street was taken in tow. Both were admitted to $50 bail.

CANADA BOARD QUILTS CONTROL OF PAPER

Announces Court's Decision
Has Ended Its Jurisdiction.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 7.—The Board of Commerce announced to-day that henceforth it would not claim or exercise any control whatever over newspaper print in Canada.

The announcement follows the decision of the Supreme Court in the Price Brothers case, that newspaper paper "was not a necessary of life" and that the powers exercised by the Board of Commerce as newspaper controller were without jurisdiction and inoperative in law.

Americans Flock to Canada.
REGINA, Sask., April 7.—More settlers are coming into Saskatchewan from the United States this spring than at any time since the outbreak of the war, according to a statement made public here to-day by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The present immigration, however, it was predicted, will prove to be "small compared with that expected later in the summer."

CANADA'S REVENUES SHOW LARGE GAINS

Total for Fiscal Year Is $380-
$32,507, an Increase of $75-
600,000 Over 1918.

By a Staff Correspondent of THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.
OTTAWA, Ont., April 7.—The total Federal revenue of Canada for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1920, was $380,325,507, an increase of $75,600,000 over the preceding year. Both customs and internal revenue showed marked gains, as did receipts from income and excess profits taxes. Customs revenue amounted to $167,423,112, or $19,500,000 above the year before, and excise revenue $42,282,551, a gain of $12,250,000.

Miscellaneous revenue, which includes income and excess profits taxes, reached $106,341,672, against $88,134,000 a year ago. Separate figures for these taxes are not available, but receipts were heavier, due in part to better acquaintance of the people with the tax system and to the patient persistence of the staff of the Department of Finance and its capable Minister, Sir Henry Drayton.

Ordinary running expenses amounted to $30,800,000, an increase of $16,800,000. The jump was caused by the interest on the national debt, pensions, soldiers' civil readjustment and land settlement, but at least part of the latter, about $5,000,000, will be transferred to investment accounts in the final clearing up for the year. War expenditure for the year was $133,441,081, or $100,000,000 less than in the preceding year.

While there was a substantial decrease in the tariff on imports, chiefly farm implements and farm supplies, the receipts from customs showed great gain, mainly owing to larger imports of all kinds of manufactured goods bearing import duties.

Regular expenditures which may be conservatively estimated for the current year will be well within the limits of revenue. Outside of $38,000,000 in the estimates for the current year for demobilization there will be no war expenditures. But the costs of the care of soldiers and their civil readjustment, which come under regular expenditures, can be carried by the revenue apart from excessive taxation.

continued, "will testify that she notified a policeman of conditions at a dance hall, and that she also notified a social worker. She mentioned specifically the case of a young girl in whom I am interested and who, night after night, went from the dance hall to rooms with men. The appointments were made at the hall. Because I wanted to save this girl I allowed my investigator to notify the social worker, after which the girl was arrested, convicted and sent away. Time after time girls have said to me they went to that hall to dance and received improper proposals from men. I will bring two of these girls before the Grand Jury if asked."

At Peter's restaurant, Mrs. Humiston said she and two other women sat drinking ginger ale for more than an hour.

"Others," she said, "were ordering highballs. I know this by their boisterous conduct and the prices they paid for drinks. As I got out of our car I saw a young woman on the stoop so drunk she was reeling. Inside we found another girl so drunk that one of my companions took her upstairs to see what she could do for her."

"I did not report this to Commissioner Enright, because when he was first appointed I offered to help him with all the information I had obtained through my service with a former administration, and he referred me to Mrs. Ellen A. O'Grady. In the presence of five or six club women who were with me, Mrs. O'Grady declined my services, although I sought no job or salary, but only to have the assistance of the Police Department in rooting out conditions affecting girls."

"When Mayor Hylan made his statement that much delinquency existed among girls, I replied as once and asked to be allowed to lay the facts before him and make recommendations, but my services were not accepted. I was silly my letter did not reach him."

Mrs. Humiston also was exercised because Deputy Commissioner Lahey would not assist Italian policemen to protect her against kidnapers when she was looking for the Wentz baby. She

2 LIBERALS WIN IN CANADA ELECTION

Later Returns Expected to Give Third More Majority.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. OTTAWA, Ont., April 7.—The three Federal bye-elections held to-day have resulted in the return of two Liberals in the Kamouraska and St. James districts, Montreal; and in the third, Temiskaming, north Ontario, the labor-farmers candidate, Angus McDonald, had a plurality of 1,235 late to-night, with half the polls to hear from. He has polled his big vote in the towns, however, and it is believed A. B. Slight, the Liberal, will pull up with the votes of the lumbermen and far out settlers.

This is a loss for the Government. The seat was formerly held by Frank Cochran, who died last year. The election of Fernand Rinfret for St. James, Montreal, who defeated a Liberal-Labor candidate, is a decided acquisition to Parliament and the Liberal party. He is editor of Le Canada, the leading morning French newspaper of the metropolis; an orator of marked talent in both languages, and in his early prime, being only 37 years of age.

Adolph Steen, member elect by acclamation for Kamouraska, is a capable lawyer; was twice returned to the Legislative Assembly of his province, and will bring strength to the Liberals in the Federal House.

was: "The arrests were made for violation of the prohibition law and not for any indecency, and although Inspector McDonald's men visited the place on various dates for two months, they were unable to obtain evidence upon which to charge the management of that restaurant with conducting a disorderly house."

After promising to furnish the Grand Jury with the names and addresses of three places violating the law in Inspector Henry's district, one of them a dance hall, Mrs. Humiston said:

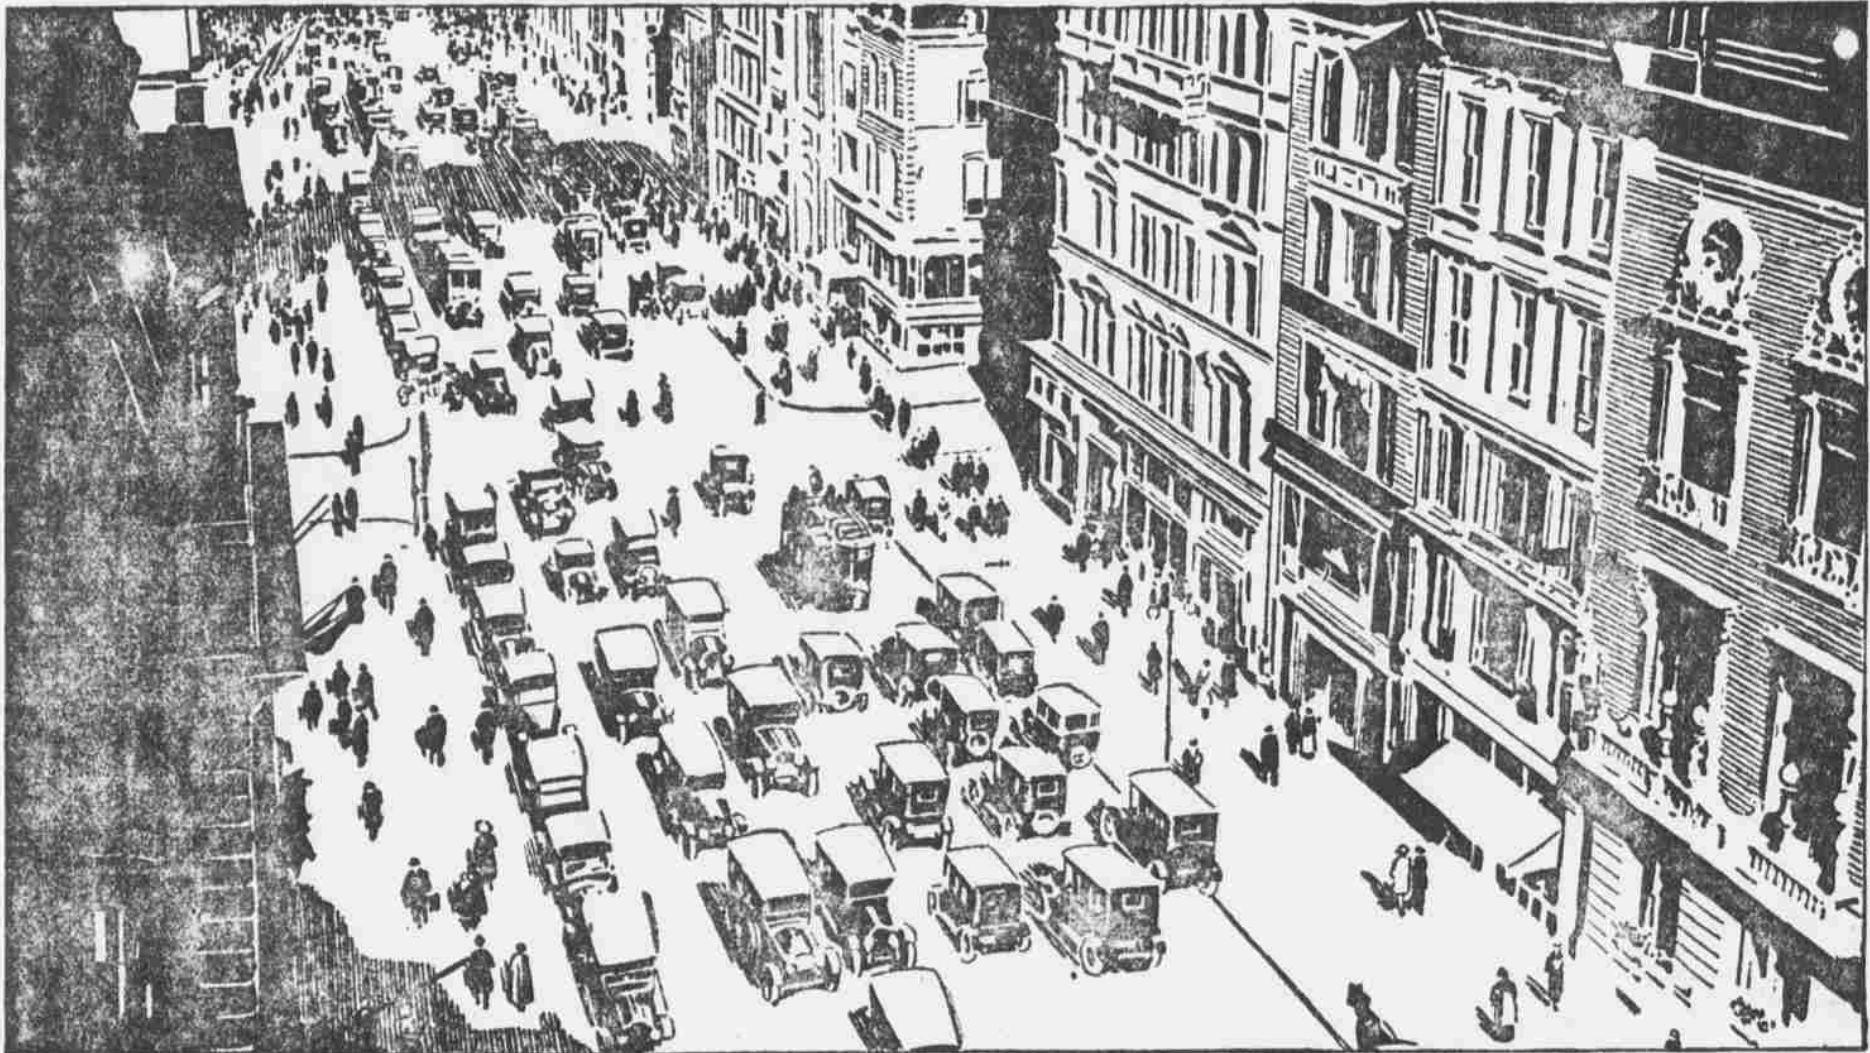

"There is a saloon in the Fourth Inspection district selling liquor openly all the time. I had the proprietor in my office because he was ruining the home of a fine woman. Others long ago had refused to sell her husband liquor. This woman notified the police about what was being done, but no action was taken."

"I know that shimmying, cheek to cheek dancing, drinking and soliciting are going on in dance halls in the Tenderloin. I will tell the Grand Jury about four specific cases."

When informed that Mayor Hylan might appoint a citizen's committee to help cleanse the city, Assistant District Attorney Smith said he would be delighted to cooperate with such a body.

Commissioner Hirschfeld gave out a copy of a report made by Inspector McDonald to Commissioner Enright on Tuesday. It dealt with Peter's restaurant, the place complained of by Dr. Straton and in which McDonald's men made arrests Monday night. Three plainclothes men—Medlyn, Cordes and Aulbach—visited the restaurant at various times from February 27 to April 5, the report says, with a view to getting sufficient evidence to charge the management with running a disreputable house. Patrolman Cordes tried to persuade waiters to introduce them to girls, but the waiters said that was not allowed. The plainclothes men then dined with several women and tried to make appointments with them, but "were informed by the women they were not out for money, but were out for a good time."

Who Makes the Best Time

AMERICA owned 6,300,000 passenger cars at the end of 1919. A quarter of a million in and around New York. Over a hundred thousand in Chicago. Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, San Francisco—every city has a like congestion.

With everybody depending on his car for business purposes, the faculty of ordinary cars for getting in one another's way becomes a serious matter—and the striking ability of the Packard to run around and through traffic is doubly worth thinking about.

THE Packard Company speaks with high authority when it says that performance of the Packard kind cannot be "assembled" into a car and cannot be "tuned" into it.

It is fundamental with the design and construction of the car.

The Packard Twin-six engine, with its steady flow of flexible power. Throttled down to two miles an hour on high in the jam, and picking up to thirty miles or more in half a block.

The Packard brakes—designed by Packard, with large, long-wearing braking surfaces; equalized, with even, positive braking action on each wheel; easily applied, sure to hold.

The Packard dry disc clutch, positive and velvety in action—and the Packard forged, heat-treated gears, with their exceptional strength and long life.

The Packard steering gear and other parts controlling the car, quick and positive in action, easy to handle, tough and reliable.

YOU often hear people say that they "get there so much quicker" in a Packard.

The Packard driver watches the road rather than the operation of his car.

He has less gear-shifting to do, less strain on his attention—and he can use the flexible power of his Packard to advantage every yard of the way.
